For 35 years, Haru Naito has felt a powerful connection to water. As a young man, he was the national swimming champion, first in his native Japan and then in America where he attended college. As a Graduate student, his doctoral studies focused on how drinking water could enhance sports performance.

In Japan, he became a respected research professor at Tokyo University, where he continued to research water and its role in how the body functions. Haru focused on the longevity, health and vitality of certain peoples such as the Hunza of Pakistan... believed to be the longest living people on Earth. He wondered why these people enjoyed healthier and longer lives than people living in his native country of Japan and other countries. His extensive search led him to one conclusion: the common element was their daily drink, a delicate and exquisite water naturally filtered through volcanic rocks.

Wanting to provide similar benefits to his athletes in Japan, Haru devised a water purification system that embodied key components found in the naturally occurring waters of Hunza. He carefully blended the natural processes with scientific research in order to create the ultimate water purification and enhancement system. The result was the Wellness Filter®.

Reports of positive health experiences from Wellness Filter users began to circulate throughout Japan and attracted the interest of the Japanese Ministry of Health, who later installed systems in many of their hospitals and clinics. As thousands of users experienced the benefits of his water, their excitement carried the word about his filters to America, Europe and beyond.

Now, you can enjoy the healthiest water on Earth... right from your own faucet. Experience the unequalled nourishing, enriching and anti-aging qualities of Haru's water...

The Wellness Kitchen is the state-of-the-art in purification and enhancement of water. Available in both countertop and undersink models, the Wellness Kitchen utilizes a 3-stage carbon block and nano-ceram purification cartridge that has been independently tested to reduce chlorine, chloramines, VOCs, PCB, MTBE, pesticides, THMs, lead, mercury, asbestos, and cysts for 1000 gallons. The system is also tested to reduce bacteria by 99.9999% and viruses by 99.99% while retaining all healthy minerals. (A performance data sheet is available upon request).

After the water has been purified it passes through a permanent enhancement cartridge filled with 5 layers of exotic, Japanese minerals. Inside, the patented magnetic treatment stage improves the hydrating ability of water, nourishing your cells with fresh, super-hydrating water. Afterwards Bakuhan and Taicho add alkaline minerals which stabilize the alkalinity of water and add a bacteriostatic effect, helping to keep the system free of contamination. Finally, Quartz crystals add soluble silica into the water, a mineral which has been shown to positively effect cognitive function.

The Wellness Kitchen comes with a simple light indicator which glows blue, yellow, or red depending on cartridge status. The cartridge change procedure is revolutionary; simply pull on the handle and twist the cartridge counter-clockwise to remove. The sanitary housing prevents you from ever having to touch a wet and potentially hazardous cartridge. Unlike other filters on the market, the Wellness Kitchen delivers a full stream of purified water (over 1 gallon per minute)... two times the average system and enough to use for all your beverage and cooking needs.
